BLUFFS BULLETIN

SENIORS PLAY FIRST GAMES OF THE SEASON

In the first games of the season for Senior Golf at The Bluffs, 14 players showed up to play. In the three-man match, the winning team was Harlan Schott, Dick Kellogg and Don Baer. In the two-man matches, it was Rex Huska and Pat Boyle for a win.

Boyle made a 31-foot birdie putt on No. 5 to secure a victory for his team. In another match, Max Andersen and Gary Prasek were one up on their competition. It was Prasek's first venture playing with the senior men. Atta Boy, Gary. Welcome to the senior fun league.

VHS tennis defeated 9-0 by Luverne

By Parker Knox
Sportswriter

The Vermillion Tanagers' only tennis dual last week resulted in a 9-0 loss at home to Luverne, MN.

Coach Dan Hanson's team plays at Mitchell today (Friday), at Sioux City North Monday and at home next Thursday against Sioux Falls Washington.

The Tanagers' closest shots at wins against Luverne came at No. 3 singles where James May lost a marathon match and at No. 1 doubles where West Bride and Camden Raizola did the same.

USD takes double-dual

Coyotes edge SDSU, roll past UND

By Jeremy Hoek
jeremy.hoek@yankton.net

While other sports at the University of South Dakota await the renewal of a once-heated rivalry, the competition on the track is already going strong.

Saturday's double dual meet was proof of that.

In what was a close battle all day, the USD men's and women's track teams combined for a tight 201-195 dual victory over rival South Dakota State at the meet held at Williams Field in Yankton.

Both USD and SDSU also defeated North Dakota in the double dual format, which counted as two Division I meets for each school.

But the real showdown was between the Coyotes and Jackrabbits.

"It's always nice to beat State," USD sophomore Alexa Duling said, with a wide grin. "There's nothing more a Coyote wants than to beat a Jack."

"And honestly, it means a little more when our relays win, because that's more of the team part of the whole thing," she added. "But we'll definitely take it."

On the women's side, USD overcame a one-point deficit with two events left to beat SDSU 105-90. The Coyotes won nine events, with SDSU winning five.

The margin was closer on the men's side, as the Jacks beat the Coyotes 105-96. SDSU claimed first place in nine events, with USD winning eight.

Again displaying a balanced effort on the track, the Coyote women had only one double-winner — Duling in the hurdle races.

The defending Great West Conference outdoor champion in the 400-meter hurdles, Duling repeated in that event (1:00:52), but she said the bigger accomplishment was winning the 100 hurdles (14.48).

"I was really surprised with how I did in the 100," she said later. "I didn't get in a full warmup, so I got nervous. Sometimes that gets into my head if I feel like I wasn't completely ready."

Already with the top Great West clocking in the 100, Duling out-distanced teammate Haley Juhnke by two seconds in winning the 400.

"My focus all along was to run a better curve on the backstretch," Duling said. "I wanted to hit that turn faster than usual, so (Saturday) was a good learning experience."

In the case of USD sophomore pole vaulter Bethany Buell, she was ready to move beyond the learning phase and into the jumping-higher phase.

Buell, who redshirted last year's outdoor season, won the women's pole vault with a 13 feet, 1.5 inch jump — leading a USD contingent that went 1-2-3-4.

"It was kind of the same story for a couple weeks," Buell said. "I was jumping well; I felt good, but the marks didn't really show it. Once you start missing, you don't have very many chances to keep going."

The Coyote women also got

individual titles on the track from Ashley Sveum in the 400-meter dash (57.48), Emma Erickson in the 800 (2:10.87), Carol Miller in the 1,500 (4:43.71) and Kristin Steffen in the 3,000 steeplechase (11:42.24).

In the field events, USD's Jasmine Mosley won the shot put (45-4.5) and Kenna Wolter was first in the triple jump (39-1.25).

The Coyote men were also just as balanced, with only one double winner — Cody Linder in the jumps.

Faced with an opportunity to not only compete against a current conference opponent (North Dakota) but also a future one (SDSU), the Coyotes held their own, according to men's coach Dave Gottsleben said.

"Our kids learned a lot and competed very well," Gottsleben said. "SDSU is a second-place team in the Summit, and we're finding out where we need to be."

"We're excited for the future," he added. "Hopefully, our guys saw where we need to get better so we can beat the Jacks next time we see them."

Linder won the long jump (22-1) and triple jump (46-3.5), while Tane Owens won the pole vault (15-5) — USD went 1-2-3 in that event.

On the track, Matt Kerswill won the 100 (10.74), Casey Shade won the 800 (1:52.53), Ethan Marquardt was first in the 3,000 (8:29.80) and Jeffrey Mettler won the steeplechase (9:14.41) in his first try at that event.

"Cody certainly stood out with some nice jumps," Gottsleben said. "And our sprinters are definitely coming along. I was happy to see Matt (Kerswill) win the 100."

In what was USD's only official home meet of the season, the Coyotes return to Williams Field a year after hosting the Great West Outdoor Championships last May.

"We owe a huge thanks to Yankton for letting us come over to host this," Gottsleben said. "Otherwise, our kids wouldn't have hosted an outdoor meet this year. And plus, this is just a phenomenal facility; one of the best in our region."
