said it could be readopted at the next regular meeting, which is scheduled for Dec. 16.

A public hearing date could then be set for Jan. 6, 2014, with advertisements running in the two intervening weeks, he said.

Monday's public hearing came after the council members passed a resolution of necessity at their Nov. 4 meeting, which set the date for the public hearing.

City Engineer José Domínguez said the hearing date was published in the meeting minutes on Nov. 15.

Resolutions are only required to be advertised once, he said.

There also was some confusion regarding the Department of Engineering's sidewalk repair policy, which was

Attorney General offers holiday shopping tips

The holiday shopping season is already upon us and the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division is encouraging consumers to shop with care this holiday season.

Attorney General Marty Jackley warns that during the busiest season of the year it is especially important to be watchful and avoid those common shopping mistakes.

Tips on Holiday Shopping:

- Check the refund and return policies for restrictions and exceptions
- When buying gift cards, check for fees and expiration dates that apply
- Read the fine print
- Double check delivery dates
- Review warranties
- Compare prices
- Check shipping and handling fees

Along with those traditional shopping methods consumers also need to proceed with caution when dealing with online retailers.

Online Shopping Tips:
• Consumers using the Internet to find the perfect gift should avoid using email links. These links can appear to be from a known business, when in fact they are coming from a different company altogether

• Use credit cards for online purchases. If there is a problem with the purchase it is much easier to dispute the charges

• Be leery of businesses that are offering deep discounts. If it sounds too good to true, then it likely is, so shop with reputable sellers

As technology changes, so do the scams. Cyber Monday is slated for Monday Dec. 2 and is considered the busiest online shopping day of the season. The use of mobile devices for online shopping has increased immensely. Consumers are using the devices to compare prices, research products, locate stores and make purchases. Smartphone users should consider these tips:

Smartphone Shopping Tips:

- Be sure your computer and mobile devices are current with all software updates
- Be caution of social media scams including fake Twitter and Facebook pages. Stick to the sites that you are familiar with and do not click on unfamiliar links
- Do your homework on price comparison apps. There are many malicious mobile apps just ready to be downloaded
- Do not download apps from unknown sources could give a flat donation or they could give a pledge per lap. We wanted to make sure that it wasn't exclusive, so even if a kid didn't raise money or get pledges, they are running and each one gets a shirt."

Students from Jolley Elementary School took part in the Boosterthon Fun Run Tuesday morning. Younger students from Austin Elementary hit the DakotaDome track running early that afternoon.

"When we started talking about this, we wanted an event that would be really fun for our kids, that would emphasize fitness, and would be fundraiser for us," said Sharla Krell, president of the Vermillion PTA. "We put those ideas together, and we created a committee of PTA parents."

The committee involved local teachers who are also parents, and the school administrators.

"Some of our teachers are more involved than others, but they are all here today," Krell said.

"Through our committee, we started talking to people at the university, and we started talking to coaches. We talked to the coaches and asked them if we could have some help from some of their kids (athletes). Lucky Huber (USD head women's track coach) had a bunch of his track kids here, and we have a bunch of football players here."

Krell said many members of the USD volleyball team help the elementary students during the morning session of the fun run.

"USD athletes were well represented, and really helped us out," she said. "We have PT and OT (physical therapy and occupational therapy) students as well as med students here, too. That was another big group that we solicited and asked to help us out and become involved with these kids."

Krell was delighted to see many of the elementary students' parents in the stands to watch them run Tuesday afternoon.

The funds raised by Tuesday's fun run are earmarked for the PTA's teacher grant program.

"Through the teacher grant program, teachers can request funds for anything that really doesn't get covered by other educational funds," Krell said. "We do a little bit of everything. We've purchased some stability and mobility balls for some classrooms because the teacher wanted to use them as part of classroom management, we've purchased book sets, DVD sets, and we've purchased food and terrariums and aquariums for some of the classroom pets."

Previous grant purchases have also included math manipulative sets and incentive prizes for grade level behavioral programs.

"It's the little things that would normally fall to teachers and aren't covered financially in other places – they can request grant money from the PTA for that, and that's primarily what all of the funds will go to."

adopted in 2010.

Vermillion resident Steve Bell brought a copy of the repair code, in which two of its four points were identical.

"The language that I see here in particular points three and four – that is, Repair Code C and D – are exactly the same," Bell said. "There is no distinction."

Domínguez examined the document, and said it contained a "typo," but added the codes are referred to correctly in other city documents.

The sidewalk inspection program that was adopted in 2010 was meant to bring deficient portions of sidewalks up to the proper standard. The program divided the city into four quadrants, and the southwest quadrant – south of National Street and west of Dakota Street – was inspected this year.

"During that inspection, staff looked at a couple of deficiencies mainly," Domínguez said. "We looked at trippers and we looked at surface defects, being either holes in the sidewalk, cracks (and) if panels (are) cracked into four or more pieces. ...

"Those sidewalks that we found were deficient were marked, and we have sent a letter to the property owners, and we're asking them to fix them," he said.

According to the council agenda memo, the property owners will be given until June 30, 2015, to "demonstrate they have the work under contract to be completed by the end of 2015."

If the property owners fail to demonstrate that, or if the work has not been completed, the work will be completed by the city, the memo said.

The memo went on to say that some residents have already responded to the notification mailing, saying that they would prefer to have the city hire the contractor and assess them for repairs.

The cost of all repairs was estimated at $102,000, along with an administration fee of either eight percent or $50, whichever is greater.

"The assessment would be placed on the tax rolls and the property owner given two years at 10 percent interest to pay the cost," the memo said. "The owner has the option to pay the entire assessment before it's placed on the tax rolls without any interest accrual."
