Clovis will speak at local GOP fundraiser Feb. 10

Radio talk show host Dr. Sam Clovis will be the main speaker at a fundraiser at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 10, at the Valiant Vineyards Winery. The meeting is sponsored by the Clay County Republicans.

The title of the talk is "Why Democrats Ought to Vote Republican This Year."

Democrats and Independents are welcome – no party identification is necessary, and admittance is free. Dessert and coffee are provided by the county's Republicans. Donations are encouraged, but not required.

Clovis is host of the radio talk show "IMPACT with Sam Clovis," which airs on KSCJ, 1360 AM in Sioux

City at 10 a.m. on weekdays.

Clovis is chair of the Department of Business Administration and Economics at Morningside College. He holds a Bachelor of Science in Political Science from the United States Air Force Academy, an MBA from Golden Gate University in San Francisco and a Doctorate in Public Administration from the University of Alabama.

Clovis spent 25 years in the Air Force, rising to the rank of colonel. He retired as inspector general at NORAD and the United States Space Command and was a command pilot, gaining readiness in the F-106, F-4 and the F-16.
