by that time the buses were warming up.

Evidence of how stringent the Tanager defense was is the fact that their three leading scorers, Alex Johnson, Brittany Blakney and Morgan Beaner, who had led the Tigers in scoring in the two previous meetings between these teams, were held to a total of six points. Harrisburg's only doublefigure scorer was 5'10" sophomore forward Halling with 17, and six of those came in the final 90 seconds when they were of little consequence. Halling had 15 of her points in the second half, and she accounted for all but five of her team's points in that half. A Szymonski three-pointer and six Amundson points got the Tanagers onto an early roll. It was 14-6 after a quarter. Two classic spin-move layups by Amundson and a trey by Val Robinson started the second quarter, and it was 21-6. Then both offenses began to struggle. The Tanagers, for example, went five minutes without scoring until Lexi Regnerus' running jumper in the last five seconds sent the Big Red to the intermission with a 23-11 lead. Each team scored 10 points in the third stanza. While the Tanagers were having trouble finding the nets, at the same time their defense and rebounding were keeping Harrisburg at bay. Two of the game's biggest baskets came when the Tigers were within 10 at 23-13. Szymonski blocked a Tiger shot at one end and scored a badlyneeded field goal at the other. She again got a block on defense, and this time Amundson rebounded her own missed shot and scored on a putback, making it 27-13. The teams exchanged buckets for the rest of the period, giving the Tanagers their 33-21 edge with a quarter to go.

Regnerus four, Robinson three and Gilkyson two. In the absence of a plethora of three-point baskets - VHS had only two in this game - the Tanagers maintained their free-throw accuracy, making 12 of 15.

are the factors in their success. He also praised his coaching team of Lori Jerred, J.J. Heyden and Jasmine Mosley.

The Tanagers' four losses in 22 games came at the hands of West Central twice, Parkston and Wagner. When Vermillion's girls arrive in Spearfish next week, only one of those clubs will be joining them there.

Harrisburg's Morgan Krier (4) couldn't slow down Vermillion's Beth Szymonski during Tuesday's Region 4A girls basketball championship game in Beresford. Szymonski scored 10 points, contributing to the Tanagers' 42-31 victory over the Tigers. (Photo by David Lias)

Amundson with 16 and Szymonski with 10 led the VHS scorebook. Huber had seven, praise to his players, saying their work as far back as last summer and throughout this school year
