Susan Marrinan

Susan Faye Marrinan, of Naples, FL, died Tuesday, March 13, 2012, at the age of 63. Her family surrounded her at the time of her death.

Her parents, Ada Myrtle Abild and Henry Lyal Abild, her sister, Myrtle Ann Abild, of Vermillion, South Dakota, and brother-in-law, Joseph Roselle, of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, precede Susan in death. Two daughters, Molly Marrinan and Cara Marrinan (husband, Keith Naps), both of Minneapolis, MN, survive her. Sister, Lois Roselle, of Oklahoma City, OK, and brother, Orin Abild (wife, Lillian Abild), of Vermillion, SD, also survive Susan.

MARRINAN

Survivors also include nephews, Brad Roselle (wife, Susan Roselle), Chris Roselle (wife, Christi Roselle), Timothy Roselle, Dean Abild, Jeffrey Abild, Greg Abild; niece, Tracy Wells (husband, Larry Wells); and cousin, Arden Abild.

Born on May 29, 1948, in Vermillion, SD, Susan spent her childhood exploring the great outdoors on her parents' farm. As a teenager at Wakonda High School, she excelled in academics and proved to be a talented musician mastering both the flute and the piano.

After high school, Susan left home to enroll at the University of Minnesota where she graduated magna cum laude with bachelor degrees in International Relations and German in 1969. Thereafter, she received her Juris Doctor at the University of Minnesota law school in 1973.

Very quickly, Susan proved to be a remarkable and formidable attorney and made a profound impact in her earlier work at Prudential, Ecolab, Carlson Companies, and HB Fuller. The apex of her career was spent at Snap-on, Inc. in Kenosha, WI, where she worked as General Counsel and Chief Legal Officer from 1991 until 2008.

Susan took great pride in raising her daughters. Above all else, Susan stressed to Molly and Cara the importance of education and of being well rounded. She often travelled with her daughters and exposed them to different cultures and varied ways of living. She also emphasized languages and the arts and took Italian, photography, and pottery classes together with her children. Susan was a compassionate and supportive mother, but a stern disciplinarian when necessary. When grades did not reflect potential or when hormonal teenagers balked at chores, Susan was quick to relegate her daughters to their rooms for quiet reflection. Susan leaves behind daughters who are grateful for their mother's sacrifices, resolute will, nurturing nature and steadfast love.

Susan also adored spending time with her extended family. She loved travelling with her sister and her nephews' families for holidays and family reunions. Whether ski trips to Colorado or Minnesota, or trips abroad, Susan was always at home when surrounded by family.

A prankster force to be reckoned with, Susan enjoyed ruffling the feathers of co-workers and family members, even once convincing her daughter that the CEO of Blockbuster was on the phone to talk about late return charges. When dear family friends, the Lindmarks, unpacked after their move from Coon Rapids to Andover, MN, they found several items that they were not aware they possessed including an unsavory shot glass, a bronze eagle statue and pink flamingo lawn ornaments. Upon reflection of the day's events, Dick and Mary Lindmark quickly realized that consummate joker Susan Marrinan had assisted in the packing up of their old home.

Of the utmost significance to Susan was her profound faith in God and living a life that reflected her Christian values. She gave to those in need, often volunteered at homeless shelters, and she cared for her dogs and longtime companions. She is joined in death by her canine companion of 14 years, Picasso, preceded in death by Rembrandt, and survived by Pablo, who is now enjoying life in the Twin Cities.

Funeral service will be held at 1 p.m., Tuesday, March 20,

40th anniversary of Senior Meals Program celebrated

It was in March of 1972 when congress passed and President Nixon signed into law a new provision of the Older Americans Act (OAA) that laid the groundwork for more than 5,000 Senior Nutrition Programs nationally. The campaign is held every year to promote public awareness, recruit new volunteers, and make contributions to help fund the program.
