Soldiers bound for Afghanistan

A deployment ceremony was held for 11 Soldiers of the South Dakota Army National Guard's 129th Mobile Public Affairs my mind that this unit will do exactly that." This is the third mobilization Guard. There is no question in someone who will leave their homes and their family and sacrifice some of that precious time they have together," said Asscherick. "The soldiers that Detachment Friday, Feb. 15, at the Duke Corning Armory on Camp Rapid.

The Rapid City-based 129th will deploy to Afghanistan for a nine-month tour in support of Operation Enduring Freedom (ÔEF). The unit will provide public affairs support, facilitate civilian news media coverage and assist and advise members of the Afghanistan National Army on public affairs operations.

"Our mission is vital to our nation's strategy there," said Maj. Wayne Asscherick, 129th commander. "Our mission has three separate and equally important parts; to do what we do best, and that is produce public affairs products in the form of print and broadcast stories and photographs; manage the media embed process and coordinate for civilian news media to be able to embed with combat units so they can let the world know what is happening in Afghanistan; teach, coach, assist and advise members of the Afghan National Army on public affairs matters."

Rapid City Mayor Sam Kooiker and Maj. Gen. Tim Reisch, the adjutant general of the SDNG, were featured speakers at the ceremony.

"I want to thank you for putting yourself in harm's way, so that we can be free at home," said Kooiker. "You are going to a place where freedom is not free. Freedom isn't free here either and we can't take it for granted. What you are doing is critical because you are spreading the true message of what freedom is all about. Thank you very much for your service and for all you do."

"I know today is a very proud day for you," said Reisch. "These activation ceremonies are all too common and we've had many of them in the SDNG.
