

Obama declares disaster for SD

The U.S. Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency announced that federal disaster aid has been made available to the State of South Dakota to supplement state, local and tribal recovery efforts in the area affected by a severe winter storm, snowstorm, and flooding during the period of October 3-16.

Federal funding is available for Disaster Unemployment Assistance for affected individuals in Butte, Corson, Custer, Dewey, Fall River, Haakon, Harding, Jackson, Lawrence, Meade, Pennington, Perkins, Shannon, and Ziebach counties and the Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe of the Cheyenne River Reservation within Dewey and Ziebach counties and the Oglala Sioux Tribe within Jackson and Shannon counties.

The president's action makes federal funding available to state and eligible local governments and certain private nonprofit organizations on a cost-sharing basis for emergency work and the repair or replacement of facilities damaged by the severe winter storm, snowstorm, and flooding in Butte, Corson, Custer, Dewey, Fall River, Haakon, Harding, Jackson, Lawrence, Meade, Pennington, Perkins, Shannon and Ziebach counties and the Cheyenne River Sioux Tribe of the Cheyenne River Reservation within Dewey and Ziebach counties and the Oglala Sioux Tribe within Jackson and Shannon counties.

In addition, federal funding is available to the state and eligible local governments on a cost-sharing basis for snow assistance for a continuous 48-hour period during or proximate to the incident period in Butte, Custer, Fall River, Lawrence, Meade and Pennington counties.

Finally, federal funding is available on a cost-sharing basis for hazard mitigation measures for all counties and tribes within the state.

Platoon, while Johnson went with the 32nd Regiment.

"That's the last I (saw) of Don Johnson," Fickbohm said.

However, the pair wrote each other letters while in Korea, until Fickbohm received one of his own letters back with the words "Missing In Action" stamped on it.

Eventually, Fickbohm learned Johnson was killed in July 1954 on Pork Chop Hill, which he said sustained approximately 1,100 casualties between March 1 and July 27 that year.

"Don went out there in about the first week of March, so he saw a lot of combat there," Fickbohm said.

Johnson was killed when a mortar dropped into the box of an armored tracked vehicle in which he was riding.

"You can use your imagination" as to what happened, Fickbohm said.

Sixteen days after Johnson was killed, the war was over.

"That was kind of ironic," Fickbohm said.

Also on Monday's program was a brief presentation in honor of Jim Kronaizl, who was not present.

Kronaizl, 87, served with the Marines during World War II, near Okinawa.

VFW Adjutant Andy Howe said Kronaizl is the local VFW's longest-serving member by six years, and has devoted much of his time to the group.

"Jim didn't just come home after the war, join the VFW and forget it," Howe said. "He was an active member all those years. He served as commander, quartermaster, chaplain."

Among the other speakers Monday was Cynthia Aden, Clay County veterans service officer.

In addition to recognizing the 1.2 million female veterans, Aden spoke of the crisis of suicide rates among active members of the military as well as veterans.

"One or more a day committed suicide over the last year," she said. "We are losing more service members to suicide than have been killed by the enemy in Afghanistan. So, if you know of someone who may need assistance, please encourage him or her to seek health through the Veterans Administration ...

"We need to keep our veterans and military members safe," she said.
