In recognition of honor

By Scott Bormann (USMC/USN, retired)
For the Plain Talk

Major Erica Iverson, of the United States Army's Corps of Engineers, traveled home to Vermillion from her current assignment at Fort Eustis, Virginia to give local residents and students a history lesson about Clay County military veterans on Tuesday in the Vermillion High School gymnasium.

"This is my home and it's great to be home," Iverson said. "I planned my wedding Saturday around this event, it means so much to me. My husband teased me that I spent more time writing this speech than my vows."

The Veteran's Day Ceremony was hosted by the American Legion Post 1 and Vermillion High School. The Vermillion Middle School, elementary schools, and the University of South Dakota ROTC (Reserve Officer Training Corps) honor guard also had major roles to play.

I was honored to join a large number of veterans who were allowed to enter to a standing ovation at the very beginning of the program. The number of veterans overflowed the reserved seating.

"I had a son in the Marines, and a great uncle in World War One that we heard stories of," Vermillion resident Dorothy Blair said. "I've been to veteran programs before. I worked in the school, and we always had a program, but it's nice to see something really put together like this. But how many people can have a speaker like Erica come?"

American Legion Post 1 Commander, Clinton Meadows, introduced each group of veteran by which era they served in, from World War Two to the current War on Terror. The families of veterans and the three Tanager who have committed to joining the military after graduating this spring were also introduced.

Austin Elementary presented a Veterans video, while the Vermillion Middle School presented a video regaling the audience on what Veterans Day means to them, and who they know that have served our country. St. Agnes' fourth and fifth grade classes performed "The Heart of America," while the VHS choir let everyone in the National Anthem, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," and "God Bless America."

Avery Iverson & Gage Whitaker each read their essays entitled, "What Veterans Day Means." They were the two winners out of the entire fifth-grade class.

"This is absolutely amazing, especially with having Vietnam vets in the audience. I think the credit goes to the Veteran Service Organizations (VSO), the VFW, the Legion and the Auxiliaries. They are the ones that went through it and they know what it is like to come home. Especially the guys who went to Vietnam and came back and got spit on. So what do they do? They come back and join these VSO's to make sure that doesn't happen to us."

Vietnam veteran and grandfather of Whitaker, Roger Delaney, had a more pleasant homecoming than most. "At Travis Air Force Base, myself and three officers went into the restroom and changed cloths," Delaney said. "I flew into Sioux Falls that night and there was nobody to come up to get me, so I spent the night at a friend's house."

"When I was waiting for him to show up I was having a cup of coffee at the restaurant at Joe Foss Field. They closed up at eleven o'clock and I went outside was standing around waiting this buddy of mine to come pick me up and one of the waitresses came out and gave me a big hug and a kiss."
