

PUBLIC LIBRARY PREPARES FOR THE GIVING SEASON

In keeping with the season of giving, the Edith B. Siegrist Public Library is pleased to share its intention to offer amnesty to patrons owing fines in the month of December, in exchange for donations of personal care items. The "Forgiving for Giving" campaign will officially kick-off during our annual Holiday Open House, on Friday, December 4th, following the Vermillion Chamber and Development Company's Downtown Parade of Lights, at approximately 7 pm.

The "Forgiving for Giving" campaign will collect donations of full-sized personal care items that will then be distributed by the Vermillion Food Pantry and the Domestic Violence Safe Options Services during the holidays. Patrons who have accumulated overdue fees, with certain restrictions, will be able to have those fines waived in exchange for donations of much-needed items, such as diapers, toothpaste, body wash, shampoo, deodorant, disposable razors, hand soap, dish detergent, toilet paper, etc. A more detailed list, and further details about the amnesty restrictions, is available by stopping by our Circulation Desk or calling the library at 677.7060.

Holiday Open House visitors will be invited to participate in the creation of festive holiday gift bags, which will also be donated to the chosen charities. In addition, our open house features an opportunity to have pictures taken with Mr. & Mrs. Claus, a variety of holiday-themed crafts, and tasty treats and hot cocoa! It's THE place to be after the downtown Parade of Lights and Tree-Lighting ceremony.

The Edith B. Siegrist Vermillion Public Library is located at 18 Church Street, Vermillion. Contact us by calling 677-7060, or by emailing vpstaff@vermillionpubliclibrary.org.

Dave Says

Make The Decision With Her

BY DAVE RAMSEY

Dear Dave,
My wife and I just started your class, and we're determined to get out of debt. At the same time, I'd like to do something to reduce the stress in her life. She's a nurse, and she works three 12-hour night shifts a week. I'm a teacher, and I think we possibly could get by if she cut down to just two nights a week and worked part time. Would this be a good idea?
—Randy

Dear Randy,
The truth is there's no "possibly" involved. Even without knowing your income and other numbers, it all boils down to one simple question — can you live on that?

It's a simple math thing. You need to look at your income and her income at 24 hours. Then, go over all of your bills and make a budget. If you can live on that, and it's what she wants to do, you have the answer.

There's no reason to do this immediately, either. I mean, we're only talking about one day a week. Chances are it won't change your lives that much. It probably won't hurt anything if she works her regular hours through the end of the year. That way, you guys can keep looking

BE WISE WHEN SELECTING A ROOMMATE

Dear Dave,
I'll be moving out to finish college next year, and I'm not sure how to find a good roommate. I know this isn't a money question exactly, but I listen to your show and value your opinion. Do you have any suggestions?
—Carson

Dear Carson,
I'm always happy to try to help someone who wants to make good decisions in life. I say that what I do is about life at the numbers and decide on what's best.

You obviously love your wife, Randy. But remember, this is up to her, too. Continue, with her, walking through the idea and the numbers. Make this decision together, so that you'll both be happy and it will be a blessing in your lives!
—Dave

and money, so this question definitely qualifies.

Finding a good roommate can be tough. You need to choose someone you like and get along with, but someone who is responsible and has a little maturity, too. Sometimes you'll have different schedules, and this may lead to people working, studying or playing all at different times. You also have to be respectful of each other's needs and values, and remember, too, that certain things about another person will eventually get on your nerves a little.

Spend a lot of time talking to people and try to find someone with whom you have a lot in common. You won't always be on the same page with another person, but, if you take some time and try to choose wisely, it can be a fun and rewarding experience!
—Dave

Vermillion Schools Utilize Area Farmers And Growers In School Lunch Program

Area growers have made a solid connection with the Vermillion's lunch programs. The result is a three-way-win, with students getting fresher produce, the local farmers getting access to an important segment of the food service market, and the area economy developing stronger local ties.

Thursday, October 22nd, all students in the Vermillion schools had the opportunity to try, locally grown apples with the purchase of a school lunch. The apples are part of the Farmers Market Selection, a program that Luncheon Solutions, the Food Service Management Company contracted with the schools, provides. Apples are being supplied this month by Hebda Family Produce.

Hebda Family Produce started in 2002 as a 4H project when the eldest son, Steven, began growing vegetables the backyard to exhibit at the Bon Homme County fair and for us to eat!

From there, he began doing farm markets in Yankton with the assistance of his family and even established a weekly home delivery service of fresh vegetables. They soon realized that our business should expand because more and more people want to know where their food comes from and that it is fresh.

Hebda's now includes a 55 acre orchard and berry farm which has strawberries, elderberries, raspberries, plums, over 10 varieties of apples and more. The "Apple Shed" houses the Farm Market, a commercial kitchen, a packing room with an apple-sorting lines, a cold storage room and a cider press room. They utilize these facilities when working with their fruits and vegetables to produce the value-added products that are made weekly in small batches.

One way these foods are served to students is on a self-serve fruit and veggie bar features 8-10 different items offered each day. Students can go back to get more fruits and vegetables if they want to. The local growers will be identified and highlighted in the serving area, to help students make the connection to the farm that produces the food they are enjoying.

"As growers become aware of the opportunity to get their produce served in schools, typically the number of growers that we work with increases. It is a win-win-win, the school district, the kids, parents, the growers" added Deni Winter, Director of Public Relations for Luncheon Solutions Inc. "We are currently working with over 40 different farms, growers, producers and ranchers in the five states that we operate. This number has double in the last 3 years and we have partnered with Hebda's now for over 6 years."

USD Hosts Free Showing Of Film About Lakota Language

The University of South Dakota will host a free public showing Thursday, Nov. 5, of the film Rising Voices/Hothanjinpi about linguists and members of the Lakota community working together to save the Lakota language.

The Language Conservancy and Florentine Films/Hott Productions, with major funding provided by the National Endowment for the Humanities, are sponsoring the 7 p.m. showing at the Al Neuharth Media Center conference room.

Told through the voices of a wide range of Lakota people who share their feelings about their language and the myriad challenges facing their community, the film also incorporates four short films created for Rising Voices by Lakota filmmakers and artists, each one giving a perspective on how finding one's authentic "language" connects a person to a deeper sense of culture. Rising Voices offers a snapshot into a day-to-day struggle of one of the biggest Native American nations and illuminates the devastating problem of ancestral language loss to Native American people.

Rising Voices is presented and distributed nationally by American Public Television (APT) and will premiere on public television stations nationwide beginning Nov. 1.
