Doing The Right Thing

BY DAVE RAMSEY

Dear Dave,
Our son is a senior in college. We all signed a contract before he left for school a few years ago stating that we would pay for school and provide him a car to drive as long as he maintained good grades and behaved in a respectful and mature manner. Over the last couple of years, his grades have dropped and he's been acting more and more disrespectful. We learned recently that he even told a family friend that he hated us. My husband went to confront him about his behavior and this statement, and our son admitted he said it and was unrepentant. My husband immediately took the car and cut off his cell phone, like we had agreed. But now, I just feel sick with worry. Did we do the right thing?
—Carla

Dear Carla,
I'm sure you do feel sick inside. If you didn't feel that way to some extent, you'd be a terrible person. This is your child we're talking about. And even though he brought this on himself by being a twerp, and you guys are simply following through on the agreement, it hurts you because you're human — and a good mom.

It may seem extreme to some folks, but what you guys did wasn't capricious or arbitrary. There was a deal in place, and he knew the terms of the contract. If someone worked for me and did or said or tweeted the kind of stuff you're talking about, I'd fire them on the spot.

Dave RAMSEY

our culture today, but you married a good one. And whether this kid realizes it or not, he's got one heck of a dad who really cares.
I'll give you a prediction. Within 30 days, your kid comes home wagging his tail behind him. Even if he's stubborn, being hungry and strapped for cash — along with losing his wheels — will solve a lot of that. From diapers until they're out of the house, and even after they're out of the house, you make a lot of those kinds of calls if you're a good parent.
—Dave

PURSUE NURSING ANOTHER WAY

Dear Dave,
I'm 45 years old and a single mom. I have a decent job, but I want to go back to school to become a nurse. The money would be much better than what I make now, but I'd have to take out student loans to make this happen. Is it worth the risk?
—Susan

Dear Susan,
Is nursing a field worth pursuing, especially when it is something you love and would increase your income significantly? You bet! Nursing is a very honorable profession. Am I going to tell you to take out loans to make it happen? Absolutely not!
Save as much as you possibly can first — even if it's just a little each month. Then, I want you to look into Pell Grants, traditional and non-traditional scholarships and what I call the "indentured servitude" program. There's still something of a nurse shortage in this country, and there are hospitals and drug companies that will agree to pay your school bills if you go to work for them afterwards for a specific number of years.
I'm proud of you, Susan. Gaining knowledge and improving yourself and your career prospects are all good things. But stay away from student loan debt. It's bad and unnecessary!
—Dave

SBA Announces Private-Public Partnership To Support Boots To Business: Reboot Entrepreneurship Training For Veterans

WASHINGTON – The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) kicked-off National Veterans Small Business Week by launching a new private-public partnership with The Marcus Foundation, First Data Corporation and Syracuse University's Institute for Veterans and Military Families (IVMF) that will support SBA's Boots to Business: Reboot entrepreneurship training program.
This partnership will allow the SBA to present more than 100 entrepreneurial training workshops over the next year to veterans of all eras, service members (including members of the National Guard and Reserves) and their spouses.
"Military veterans represent a vast pool of talent and tested skills that makes them natural business leaders," said SBA Administrator Maria Contreras-Sweet. "This private-public partnership will make it possible for more veterans to gain the tools necessary to start their own successful businesses and create good jobs in their communities."

The Boots to Business: Reboot curriculum will introduce veterans to the fundamentals of business ownership including evaluating business concepts and developing a business plan. Course participants will be introduced to their local SBA resource partners, consisting of Veterans Business Outreach Centers, Women's Business Centers, Small Business Development Centers and SCORE.

Additionally, upon completion of the introductory course, participants will be eligible to register for "Foundations of Entrepreneurship," an eight-week, online course led by instructors from Syracuse University's IVMF that offers in-depth instruction on the elements of a business plan and techniques and tips for starting a business.
To learn more about the Boots to Business: Reboot entrepreneurship training program, visit www.sba.gov/bootstobusinessreboot or contact the SBA district office in your local community.
