

A moment in time

A sampling of photographs from the schools of Clay County from past years (counterclockwise from top): Students pose for a class picture outside West Side School; Bruyer School building; Springfield School building; Austin School building; East Side School building; and St. Joseph Academy, later known as North Side School.

(Photos courtesy of the W.H. Over Museum and the Clay County Historical Society)

