already invested in a land position in the community to start a homebuilding program immediately."

Lautman also suggested a "land bank program" to the council members.

According to the report, a local public/private land banking entity would "control, plan, entitle and market the first 200 to 400 acres of workforce housing lot inventory, including the land parcel owned by the production builder/developer."

"You're going to have to make this market," Lautman said.

The report also suggests an Integrated Community Advancement Program (ICAP) be designed and developed that would elevate and integrate community civic program efforts in the areas of economic development, community development, workforce housing and talent attraction.

Recommendations for projects and programs for each of the four areas were provided in the report, as well.

"The ICAP should serve as the community's central clearinghouse for prioritizing, planning, managing and measuring of discretionary investment in areas strategic to the advancement of the community," the report said.

Lautman said several different committees can be established to do the planning for each specific area of the ICAP.

"You're going to want to show employers that you've actually got a plan and you're executing it," he said. "The second you resolve to do this, you've changed your position in the market. You go from a community that doesn't have a plan, hasn't been building houses up until now, probably never will, to, 'Here's a place that's moving forward.'" minutes remaining before a shootout would ensue.

But with only 15 seconds left Samudzi scored his eighth goal in three games, this one off Matt Porogi's assist. The remaining seconds ticked away, and the Tanagers were state champions.

In the quarterfinal win over Hot Springs, the Tanagers got off to a somewhat slow start – for them, at least. They had two first-half goals, but the floodgates opened in the second half when seven more Vermillion scores made it a rout over the Bison.

Two of the three Hot Springs goals came on penalty kicks.

Settles recorded a hat trick of three goals, Porogi and Samudzi scored twice each, and James

May and Joe Miller contributed one goal apiece.

Vermillion took command against Sturgis with four first-half goals. The Scoopers scored early in the second half, but VHS more than matched that with two goals of their own. A final meaningless Sturgis goal came late in the game.

Samudzi had a four-goal production, and Sam Tigert and David Day each scored once for Vermillion.

"I couldn't be more proud of the way our team finished the season," Nelson said. "The pressure was on us as the undefeated team going into the state tournament, and we had to put it all on the line."

Nelson said his club played with focus and intensity for three complete games.

"We ended the season accomplishing what we knew we were capable of," he added.

Vermillion never trailed in a game all season except for a grand total of three seconds in the regular-season game at Sturgis. In that one Sturgis scored on the Tanagers, but VHS took the kickoff and scored from the half line.

The All-State team announced Tuesday includes six Vermillion players. Alex Robertson, Matt Porogi, Nathan Samudzi and Tanner Settles were all first-team selections, and Chris Lubbers and Ethan James were named to the All-State second team.

"I would like to thank everyone who supported us this year," Nelson concluded, "especially the parents, managers, Vermillion Youth Soccer, and the Booster Booth."

Lubbers, Robertson, Settles, David Day and Christian Wasley are seniors on this year's varsity, but Samudzi and James are only juniors, and 19 other boys in grades 7-11 were out for soccer this season at VHS.

The Tanagers and the Tigers remained scoreless through the first half and through the second half. At one end that meant a job excellently done by Tanager goalkeeper Alex Robertson, who successfully made nine saves in the game. But the 0-0 deadlock at the end of regulation time meant two 10-minute overtime periods.

"We were panicking on the field a bit toward the end of regular time because we had not been in that situation all season," said first-year coach Curt Nelson. "Going into overtime I reminded the guys how well we can play when we keep our composure and have fun playing our game."

Message understood. Mission accomplished.

Nate Samudzi converted a Tanner Settles assist into a 1-0 Vermillion lead during the first extra period. The Tanagers were only two minutes away from victory when Harrisburg put in the tying goal with only two
