All three former members of the United States House of Representatives will present on behalf of the Farber Forum, meet with faculty and students and attend select political science and government classes during the two-day Congress to Campus event.

"Congress to Campus brings very experienced former members of Congress to campus for intensive discussions with students in and outside the classroom," said Bill Richardson, Ph.D., director of the W.O. Farber Center and chair of the Department of Political Science at USD.

"Having Reps. Herseth Sandlin, Sandlin and Miller on campus a week before the election is a tremendous opportunity for our students as these members frequently provide candid views on contemporary public policies, issues and political leaders."

Miller and Sandlin will present the Farber Forum, "The Role of Congress in the War on Terror," at 4 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 29 at Farber Hall, inside Old Main, while the Sandlins will present a second Farber Forum, "Past, Present and Future of Congress," at 10:45 a.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 30 at Farber Hall.

In addition to the presentations, all three former members of Congress will be present on Oct. 30 for Richardson's Political Theory class. They will also attend classes taught by Political Science Instructor Mary Pat Bierle on Oct. 29, including Introduction to American Government and Political Writing.
